

SUBSTITUTE ABSTRACT

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an identified structure of a controlling bulb and a normal bulb of a decorative light string. The controlling bulb can be easily identified from a normal bulb. The controlling bulb connecting with a specific holder and only can be received in a relating socket for corrective connection of the light string.